

Equi-Health Canada/Equi-First Aid USA Safe Trailing Practices Instructor Training

The Equi-Health Canada/Equi-First Aid USA Safe Trailing Practices Instructor (“STPI”) training is delivered as a one-day course. All class supplies will be provided by the instructor-trainer, as will snacks, refreshments and a light lunch.

We will go through the entire class, including both the PowerPoint presentation and the activities. Students will have the opportunity to implement their learning by teaching &/or reviewing different of the class with the instructor and fellow students.

Additional courses – an overview of the other classes that Equi-Health Canada/Equi-First-Aid offer.

What now? Business information, code of ethics, instructor agreements, etc., with an opportunity for Q&A. Graduation - certificates and photos.

Upon successful completion of the course, graduates will be awarded a Certificate of Completion. New instructors will also receive an instructor vest and briefcase, with the company logo. New instructors will have access to the Instructors Facebook group, which provides teaching & marketing resources.

Q & A

Q. Is the training tax deductible?

A. Yes, at this time it is considered a tax-deductible expense in most places - but always check local regulations with your accountant.

Q. How long will it take me to recover my investment?

A. With average class sizes of 12-15 students, most instructors make back their investment with their first classes.

Q. What do I get for my training fee?

A. You'll receive a welcome booklet that helps you get started.

The course itself is one day in length. We provide refreshments and lunches during training, the training location and all teaching materials & supplies. Upon graduation you will be awarded a vest and a briefcase with the company logo and the word 'INSTRUCTOR'. We also provide you with the class PowerPoint presentation that guides you through the class. You will be 100% set up and ready to teach upon graduation! You also receive ongoing help and support after graduation.

Q. When I take the training, do I work for Equi-Health Canada/Equi-First Aid USA?

A. Students who successfully complete an instructor training course become independent contractors for Equi-Health Canada/Equi-First Aid USA. That means that you can write off your business expenses (per current tax legislation), travel and teach when, where and as often as you want! We have instructors across Canada, the United States, France, Switzerland, Australia. You are eligible to teach anywhere that you are legally entitled to work. As an independent contractor, you are responsible for all aspects and responsibilities of your own business entity and for securing insurance coverage.

Q. Do I have to find my own courses to teach?

A. Yes and No. We market together. Part of your training includes marketing of your own courses and we encourage you to use your contacts in the horse world, however we also market heavily for our instructors through social media campaigns, magazine and print ads, post and market your courses on the website, send you leads and refer students and host locations to you.

Q. Are there territories?

A. No. Territories are unnecessary. There are over 2 million people involved with horses in Canada, 1.2 million riders in the UK, and another 4.6 million horse owners in the USA, so there are plenty of potential clients for all our instructors. We want you to be able to travel and teach in fun places as well. We have one instructor who teaches at a guest ranch in Costa Rica every year. You can teach anywhere that you are legally entitled to work.

Q. So how does it 'work'?

A. Once you have a class scheduled at your own ranch or a host location, we advertise your class on our websites and you advertise locally via whatever means you choose. The one-day courses are offered nation-wide at the standard fee of $159.00. You collect the fees from your students directly. You then order your course materials from your Affiliate Head Office at a cost (currently $40.00) per student (includes their manual and certificate of completion).

Q. Is there a minimum teaching requirement?

A. Yes, you are required to teach two classes per year to retain your certification, so that your skills stay current. If you do not meet your minimum requirement, you can recertify for a nominal fee.

Q. Do I have to re-certify at any point?

A. Yes, your certification is valid for 3 years. After 3 years you can re-certify via an online exam to obtain your lifetime certification

Q. What kind of support do I have?

A. We really are a family.

We have a closed Facebook group where instructors from across the world can share ideas, stories, etc.

Corporate Head Office, your Affiliate Head Office, senior instructors and your instructor-trainer are always available for phone or email support as well.

Feel free to call me if you have additional questions; 936-827-5694

I look forward to you joining the team!
